

Museum, Hue City; Dr. Bui Phat Diem, Director, Long An Museum, Long An Province; Dr. Tran Duc Anh Son, Director, Hue Royal Antiquities Museum, Hue City; Ms. Nguyen Thi Duc, Fine Arts Museum, Ho Chi Minh City; and Mr. Tran Quang Toai, Dong Nai Museum, Bien Hoa Province.

At Asia Society, we want to again acknowledge Vishakha Desai's leadership of Asia Society for making this exhibition happen. The exhibition follows a large-scale business conference in Saigon, highlighting Asia Society's multidisciplinary focus on arts and culture, business, policy, and education. At Asia Society we would like to recognize Marion Kocot, Associate Director, for managing the entire project; Dr. Adriana Proser, John H. Foster Curator of Traditional Asian Art; Clare McGowan, Collections Manager and Registrar; Clayton Vogel, Installation Manager and Exhibition Designer; Elizabeth Bell, Museum Associate; Nancy Blume, Head of Museum Education Programs; Hannah Pritchard, Administrative Assistant; and Jacqueline Ganem and Wu Yiyu, Asia Society Museum Fellows, who have worked in different capacities on the exhibition. Others at Asia Society who should be thanked for their continued support include Jamie Metz, Executive Vice President; Rachel Cooper, Director, Cultural Programs, and Helen Koh, Associate Director, Cultural Programs; Todd Galitz, Andrea Petrini, Alice Hunsberger, and Emily Moqtaderi for their fundraising efforts; and Deanna Lee, Elaine Merguerian, and Ashley Eiler for publicity and marketing.

At the Museum of Fine Arts, Houston, we would like to recognize the work of Christine Starkman, Curator, Asian Art; Karen Vetter, Chief Administrator, Exhibitions and Curatorial; Diane Lovejoy, Publications Director; Paul Johnson, Associate Director, Development and Membership; and Kathleen Crain, Exhibitions Registrar.

The exhibition and book would not have been possible without the collaboration of our early partners at the Asian Art Museum of San Francisco. In addition to Emily Sano, we would like to recognize Forrest McGill, Chief Curator and Wattis Curator of South and Southeast Asian Art; Nancy Kirkpatrick, former Director of Museum Services; Sharon Steckline; Tom Christiansen; and Kaz Tsuruta among the many individuals whose work was instrumental in the early organization of the project.

Melissa Chiu

Director, Asia Society Museum

Peter C. Marzio

Director, The Museum of Fine Arts, Houston