

in the
sites
pines.
ed
South
g a
e are related
ac-
n their
ture
and to the
found

d in n the he
n the
d in
outh-
om-
ewelry
let tinue
n site
des
a Sa
sts
gen-
rade

to the
cently
uri-
ly Sa
nd
s are
ed
of the enter
s the d

st is
de
sess
ain
he
mar-
nese,
The
lter-

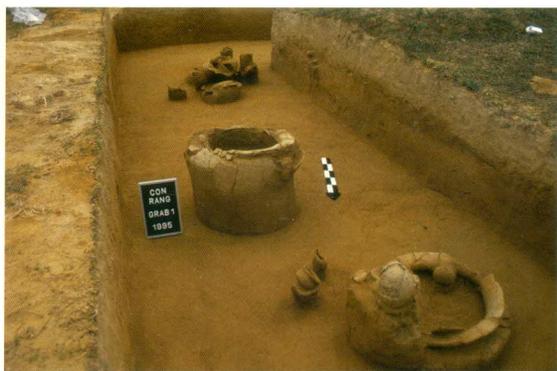

FIG. 3
Tall jar burials containing the dead, buried in groups of two to five jars, are characteristic of the Sa Huynh culture.

FIG. 4
Three slit discs of various sizes, Thanh Hoa province, 1st millennium B.C. Glass, nephrite, slate; a. Diam: 4.8 cm, b. Diam: 2.8 cm, c. Diam: 9.3 cm, National Museum of Vietnamese History, Ha Noi, LSb25060, LSb25083, LSb25065.

FIG. 5
Lai Nghi, six iron offerings (a machete, a chisel, an axe, a hoe, a spear, and a sword) from a jar burial.